How to make a Quilt Sleeve:

Use muslin or fabric to match your quilt. Cut fabric 8 ½" wide and the width of your fabric. Put a ½" hem in each end. Fold the piece lengthwise wrong side out. Sew the long raw edges together with a ¼" seam, turn it right side out and press with the seam at the bottom and put a crease in the top. Next roll the tube down from the top, crease 1" and press in another crease. To attach the sleeve to the back of the quilt, lay the sleeve with the second crease 1" below the lower edge of the binding. Pin and hand stitch the second crease and the seam edge of the sleeve to the quilt. Sew only through the backing and the batting.
